

VERO VERGARA

Sweet Hollow Farm

“I think many more people are coming to understand the delusional framework white supremacy and cultures of supremacy have created for distribution of resources, including land, food supply, and the infrastructure to feed people at scale.”

Ep. 4

Vero Vergara is a nonbinary, disabled, brown queer farmer and food systems cultural worker based on Coast Salish territories. Vero is a founding worker-owner of Sweet Hollow Farm in Woodinville, WA. They work at the intersection of autonomous food systems building and liberatory community care.

Learn more about Sweet Hollow Farm at their website:

www.sweethollowfarm or their Instagram account: @sweethollowfarm. You can also email Vero at granjerx.vero@gmail.com.

Some folks that are mentioned in this podcast are:

Karen Washington: <https://www.riseandrootfarm.com/karen-washington>

Leah Penniman: <https://www.soulfirefarm.org/meet-the-farmers/>

Mai Nguyen: <http://farmermai.com/farmer/>

Rowan White: <https://sierraseeds.org/rowens-story/>

Ashante M Reese: <https://ges.umbc.edu/ashante-m-reese/>

Ricardo Salvador <https://www.ucusa.org/about/people/ricardo-salvador>

Robin Wall Kimmerer: <https://www.esf.edu/faculty/kimmerer/>

Winona la Duke: http://www.honorearth.org/speaking_engagements

Chris Newman: <https://www.sylvanaqua.com/>

Leah Lakshmi Piepzna-Samarasinha: <http://brownstargirl.org/>

Ejeris Dixon: <https://www.visionchangewin.com/meet-the-consultants/ejeris/>

Music credit to Made By Finja by Sascha Ende

Link: <https://filmmusic.io/song/6171-made-by-finja>

License: <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>